

Matthew Roppolo

I urge you to stop considering the use of toxic fracking water on crops. I instead suggest it be used in data centers since are a huge drain on our water resources. Cleaning would also be needed for this so as not to add to air pollution through evaporation, but this still seems much safer.