

Sharon Cozort

Based on the potential for real long-term agricultural and environmental damage, I request that you allow the following:

1. More time to comment, with hearings held in affected regions.
2. Real setbacks — from public water sources, and from schools, churches, residences, and daycares, all scaled to documented spill distances.
3. Real testing — for the contaminants known to be in produced water (heavy metals, radium, PFAS, industrial solvents), by independent certified labs.
4. Real transparency — public disclosure of chemical contents, application volumes, testing data, and the science behind the rule.

Thank you for keeping Texans safe.
